

CENTER FOR HOMELAND DEFENSE AND SECURITY

ABOUT CHDS

Established in 2002 by the U.S. government to build a national cadre of homeland security leaders with advanced skills in organizational collaboration and innovative policy and strategy development. CHDS is a one-of-a-kind educational forum that brings together local, state, tribal, territorial, federal, and private sector leaders to learn, debate, and solve homeland security challenges while bridging gaps in interagency and intergovernmental cooperation. In addition to its academic programs, CHDS provides homeland security professionals with research, digital library holdings, online courses, educational materials, networking, and resources to do their jobs and further their knowledge.

MA | MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAM

- This accredited 18-month program brings together officials from across the U.S. and all levels of government to critically think about HS issues and research solutions.
- Through rigorous inquiry participants develop skills necessary to create innovative policies and strategies to protect the U.S. from a wide range of threats and public safety risks.
- Participants are in-residence two weeks per quarter; remainder of coursework is completed via network-based learning.
- Approximately 160 students from diverse disciplines are enrolled in concurrent cohorts – law enforcement, fire, emergency management, public health, military, etc.; classes are held in Monterey, California and in the National Capital Region (currently at the Bolger Conference Center).
- Participants complete a thesis on actual policy issues confronting their city, state, or sponsoring organization; these are implemented by agencies around the nation to solve HS challenges.

EEP | EXECUTIVE EDUCATION PROGRAM

- The Executive Education Program (EEP) provides a wide-range of tailored homeland security educational opportunities designed to help strengthen U.S. capability to prevent, deter, prepare for, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks, natural disasters, and public safety threats and to build the intergovernmental, interagency, and civil-military cooperation that homeland security requires.
- The academic program offerings are conducted around the country by CHDS mobile education teams comprised of nationally-recognized experts from a variety of fields related to homeland security.
- The CHDS teams work with requesting government agencies and associations to customize educational content and structure to meet participant needs and objectives.
- The curriculum may cover a wide range of homeland security issues important to leaders and decision-makers or be designed to explore a single challenge in-depth.
- Sessions are flexible and may range from a couple of hours to several days in duration and can be delivered in the form of a seminar, symposium, workshop, presentation or short course at local venues.
