

EXECUTIVE LEADERS PROGRAM

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Executive Leaders Program provides a unique educational opportunity for senior-level homeland security/public safety leaders who are at the forefront of the Nation's homeland security mission. This non-degree, graduate-level educational program meets the immediate and long-term needs of leaders responsible for homeland security/public safety by bringing together a variety of disciplines and jurisdictions into one room. Each class consists of a diverse group of federal, state, local, territorial, tribal, and private sector leaders who become enhanced decision-makers and innovative collaborators. Participants learn from each other by discussing relevant issues and complex problems while developing policies and strategies to heighten their organization or agency's homeland security/public safety mission.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

- Provide frameworks to develop innovative strategies, policies, and organizational elements needed to strengthen the national security of the United States.
- Improve homeland security leaders' capacity to identify complex homeland security problems and respond decisively and consistently.
- Acquire a deeper understanding of the current and emerging homeland security issues, public policy debates, the multitude of threats, and evolving best practices.
- Provide an educational forum that builds networks and strengthens collaboration across regions, agencies, and local-state-federal jurisdictional and private-sector lines.

CURRICULUM

Each of the one-week seminars offers presentations on selected topics such as international and domestic threats and hazards, cyber and technology challenges, understanding leadership challenges, border/immigration issues, crisis and risk communication, and leadership frameworks, as well as the emerging homeland security issues.

All of the topics discussed will be on a strategic, policy, and organizational design level with particular attention to the complexity of the inter-jurisdictional collaboration challenges. The participants will consider complex issues and case studies, and work through problems that enable them to strengthen working relationships across regions, agencies, and local-state-federal jurisdictional and private-sector lines.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

- Twelve-month program with (4) one-week in-residence sessions at the Center for Homeland Defense and Security, Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California.
- The cohort of approximately thirty-two senior local, state, tribal, territorial, federal government, military, and private sector officials are chosen from a national applicant pool and reflect the variety of professional backgrounds and geographic areas that comprise the homeland security/public safety community.
- The instruction will be a combination of presentations and facilitated discussions between faculty, participants, and subject matter experts.
- Designed to accommodate the busy schedules of participating executives and will not require the workload of traditional graduate-level education programs.
- Instructors are experts in their field and offer unique perspectives on how emerging trends can be leveraged and applied to the participant's organization.

COST

All costs associated with participating—tuition, course materials, and travel—are covered by the Center for Homeland Defense and Security through its sponsor, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's National Preparedness Directorate, FEMA.
